THE BOY SCOUTS NEED US NOW SCHOOL DAYS MORTER STREET BY DWIG

NEED THEM FOR FUTURE MEN P we are going to expect the Boy Scouts to grow up into

IT WE are going to expect the Boy Scouls to grow up into the loyal citizens which the next generation is going to exed so hadly, we have got to pay the expenses of the instruction those boys are getting and are to continue the instruction those boys are getting and are to continue the instruction those boys are getting and are to continue the instruction those boys are getting and are to continue the instruction those boys are getting and are to continue the instruction those boys are getting and are to continue the instruction those should be about the instruction the expension of the instruction. The Boy Scoul movement is one which insures the safety of this country after the next fifteen years, if we will be liberal enough and fair enough with the boys, with the country and with ourselves to keep the movement going.

Right now is the time in El Paso when we must decide what part we are to play in making the coming years aste for Americanism, by our attitude toward the Boy Scouts. The Boy Scout argumination remains the properties of the plant of the war, we must not harden for one year, we must afmit it is a small amount if it will make each of those boys a better man. But the per aprital cost will be less than that, for there are at least 4000 lade is this city who should be in the Boy Scout argumination and who will be in it if they are approached property. When these 4000 boys are within the organization and as ment goed with 44. The Boy Scout are trught to be housed. They are taught to work hard. They are taught to be brave. They are given an outdoor experience which prepares them for hardships, expoure, feeds of daring and which insures the single to the plant of the congress.

There is no other way under the sun to the part of the congress.

Souting gives a boy an opportunity to do the things that all boys extrywhere have wanted to do, but under the proper give a boy an opportunity to do the things that all boys extrywhere have wanted to do, but under the proper give and the proper give and the proper g

One reason some people do not believe a burglar stole. The Maxican boys of El Paso need scouting especially. These hair must be reached and made Americans. When for one man to carry, their parents find out what good it will do their sous, they will have no objections to it. With the boys born of foreign parentage made good Scouts, we will have nothing a cutjs board is just as auspicious as being picked by Col.

fereign parentage made good Scouts, we will have nothing to fear from the foreigness in a few more years. And a man's loyalty to the country he lives in is mostly a matter of how much he understands it and its ideals. Behind the Boy Scout movement hare are many of the leading citizens. They know, both because many of them are fathers and because all of them realize the need for stalwart beys and manly men, that the drive for finds must go ever. When any of these men come to us asking for our support, we should not hesitate for a single instant to give whatever we can afford. For we have get to be on the square with these boys of cure.

If queen Elisabeth had wern a skirt like modern wo-men wear, Sir Walter could have thrown down a necktic-and saved his overcost.

Can anyone explain why Abe Lincoln's picture is on sor theapest coin, while Benjamin Harrison's' face adorns the five dollar bill?

Rear Admiral Grayson, presidential physician, has re-ceived a distinguished service cross, for which there must be some reason.

Fighting in Russia is the result of force of habit as well as of the force of circumstances.

One thing nebody need ever fear is that any man nom-inated for president will decline it.

It will be satisfactory with the former kaiser if he is tried and hanged only in effigy.

Everything might be worse. Breweries might be turned into flivver factories.

Hoover speaks, and the world listens.

Some men may think that being picked for president by a onlis board in just as auspicious as being picked by Col. George Harvey.

If the Mexican bandits poured tequils on the bodies of their victims, that was certainly adding insult to injury.

The men who provided that congress is to be the judge of its own membership must have forseen Milwaukee.

If you can't convert reds, deport 'em, and if you can't deport 'em, turn 'em over to the American Legion. If Paris offers big enough purse, Jack Demposy may rercome his longfelt dislike to fighting in France.

It takes more dough to buy a loaf of bread and less to make one now than ever before in the world.

Men who used to get their victims drunk before they fleeced them will have to dry clean them now.

Rippling Rhymes - -Paying Rent

SOME kind of home you'll have to own, a humble shack of brick or frame, or one of atucco, must or stane, if you would beat the landlerd's game. For long sad years I paid my rent, and there'd be sunshine in my soul if I now had the coin that went to awell the landlord's gergeous roll. The landlord owned a row of shacks, and every menth he walked abroad, left desolation in his tracks, and touched each tenant for his wad. I muttered, as I dag the dimes, coughed up the sweat stained, hard earned seeds. Two bought this coop a dumn times, and yet the landlord has the deeds. And when I fell and broke a limb the landlord came to get the rent; there was no sympathy in him when a down times, and yet the landlerd has the deed." And when I fell and broke a limb, the landlerd came to get the rent; there was no sympathy in him when I could not produce a cent. He said he didn't care a whoop for all my sufferings and some; he fired me from that lowly coop and chased my weeping aunta ent deers. There is no thrift in paying rent to landlerds who have hearts of sione; far better have a canyas tent, and know the blamed thing is your own. Wen cannot berrow seven dimes on all the wealth you've paid for reat; on your even house, in crucial times, you'll get a loan from some kind gent. Copyright by George Matthew Adams. WALT MASON.
